T. G. THURM, Fort street

CRYSTAL SODA WORKS, Hotel street

Five Cents per Copy.

"BIZ."

Persons using charcoal would do well to call on S. M. Carter, who has always on hand charcoal from the best of Island woods; sold in quantities to suit. Orders received for the above will be promptly attended to.

The "Commercial"

Will open this evening with a fine hot lunch, which will be served free to its patrons. During the day a fine cold luncheon will always be found on the side-board. One of the features of the "Commercial" under the new proprietor, Mr. James Welch, will be the sale of the celebrated Boca Draught Beer at 12½ cents per glass. This favorite beer is imported fresh by every steamer, and the lot now offered is a part of the new brew of the Boca Company. The reading and billiard parlors connected with the "Commercial" have been refurnished and the excellent billiard tables have all been refitted. The "Commercial Hotel" is the most attractive resort in Honolulu. 189 tf

LOCAL NEWS.

The wind blew great cannons yesterday and last evening.

A bright meteor shot across the western sky last evening.

Services were held in the different churches as usual last evening.

The steamer W. G. Hall will be due from Maui and Hawaii to-morrow afternoon.

Mr. E. F. Hopke, counselor at law, has opened his office over Spreckels & Co.'s bank, room No. 9.

The flag staff of the United States Consulate at the corner of Fort and Merchant streets, was again erected at 3:30 P. M. yesterday.

The Royal Hawaiian Band will play at the Bethel lunch at noon to-day, which will add much to the enjoyment of the affair.

At half-past six o'clock this evening, the Queen's Own corps, under command of Captain O'Connor, will meet at the Armory for drill.

Mr. T. G. Thurm has at his store, Fort street, a small assortment of Easter cards, plain and plush, which will be sold at low prices.

A very pretty sketch of the surf by moonlight, the work of Mr. J. D. Strong, is on exhibition in Messrs. West, Dow & Co.'s show window.

Messrs. E. P. Adams & Co., the popular auctioneers, hold their regular cash sale at ten o'clock this morning, at their salesrooms on Queen street.

Messrs. Meller & Halbe, confectioners, having assigned to Mr. F. H. Oeding, will have their stock and effects sold at auction by E. P. Adams & Co. on the 16th inst.

The annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held in their hall at half-past seven o'clock this evening. All members are requested to be present.

Owing to the decease of Mr. Rice, father of Mrs. Whitney, president of the W. C. T. U., its meeting will not occur on Thursday as advertised, but will be postponed one week.

The regular weekly drill of the Honolulu Rifles was held in the Armory last evening. The members, who have lately taken more than usual interest in the company, turned out in good numbers.

The model of an American man of war on exhibition at Oat & Co.'s attracts considerable attention, and is the subject of some criticism. Yet it was made by a sailor and is valued at thirty-five dollars.

A Chinese prisoner working on the mud scow, fell overboard from the scow near the Pacific Mail wharf yesterday morning, but was rescued by some of his fellow prisoners, none the worse for the ducking.

Johnny Oat was seen yesterday in an animated discussion with a native, on the merits of American and British navies. Johnny would not give the native a chance to speak, therefore coming out best in the argument.

The smoke from Williams' factory on King street is wafted daily to Merchant, where it settles. Of late the thing has become a positive nuisance. It can only be abated by raising the smoke stack or lowering the street. Most people prefer lengthening the pipe.

The legal, mercantile, clerical, educational, mechanical, artistic, decorative and theological professions, trades, occupations and pursuits are well represented in the Honolulu base ball clubs. Boiler makers strike out cashiers, stockbrokers put out hack drivers on the fly, and Custom House men make home runs; who shall say that the noble game does not demand a variety of attainments.

Hon. J. L. Kaulukou, Sheriff of Hawaii, has just ascended another round in the ladder of fame. He assumes the Postmaster Generalship made vacant by the removal of Mr. H. M. Whitney. Mr. Kaulukou's career for the past few years has been one of rapid advancement. A lawyer, a legislator, a sheriff and a Postmaster General in turn, and now all at once. Astute!

The Royal Hawaiian Band will give a moonlight concert at Emma Square this evening, commencing at half-past seven o'clock. The following is the programme:

March. Sounds of Joy, (new). Reichardt
Overture. A Summer Night. Suppe
Galop. Full Speed. Bohn
Reminiscences of Auber. Godfrey
Ka Ipo Lauae, (new)
Selection. The Mikado. Sullivan

Lancers. The Mikado, (new). Sullivan
2 Quicksteps (by request). Under Commands, b. Greetings.
Hawaii Ponoi.

The writer witnessed a most disgusting scene in one of the numerous Chinese poi factories in town, a few days ago. Three Chinamen were seated on the floor of the shop with large boards in front of them, each pounding the poi with large stones used for that purpose. The perspiration was rolling down from the upper part of their bodies, which were bare, into the poi, and to cap the climax, one of the heathen arose and began stamping the poi with his feet, seemingly much to the amusement of his companions.

The Bethel lunch was again well attended yesterday—a toothsome bill of fare rewarded all who dropped in. The usual attention to all characterized the occasion. These lunches have certainly been the feature of the week, for which the ladies have placed many an individual under lasting obligations for the rare treats provided. In conformity with a custom prevalent in the East—recorded in Scripture—the committee in charge have kept back the best of their feasts till the last—see bill of fare for to-day in another column—and it is fair to presume that the patronage will be equal to the occasion. As usual the row will begin at eleven o'clock.

The death of the venerable L. L. Rice recalls his connection with the celebrated (?) Spaulding's "Manuscript Found." The Mormon Church or more properly the "Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints," was founded by Joseph Smith. Smith, it is claimed, discovered some metallic plates buried at Mount Cumorah, on which were engraved the book of Mormon, purporting to be a history of the lost Ten Tribes of Israel, and tracing their wanderings to America. From this account it appears that the American Indian traces his ancestry to Moses, Abraham and Isaac. The Book of Mormon has nothing whatever to do with the faith or creed of the Mormon Church, which derives its inspiration from a work called "Doctrines and Covenants" and subsequent revelations to Brigham Young and others. The Book of Mormon was merely a "starter." An effort was made to prove that the Book of Mormon was either a copy of Spaulding's "Manuscript Found" or was suggested by it. The "Manuscript Found," by a variety of circumstances, came into the possession of Mr. Rice, who subsequently deposited it with President Fairchild of Oberlin College. A copy was furnished to the Josephites, an offshoot of the church, and by them published in Iowa. The discovery and publication of the manuscript, has demonstrated beyond a doubt that it never inspired or suggested the publication of the Book of Mormon.

They say: That the Bethel lunch yesterday was splendid; that the town is filled with various unofficial rumors; that the new Postmaster General drove to the Post-office yesterday morning to have a peep at his future emolument; that the dust around "Palace Square" is a shifting nuisance; that the Kingdom of Hawaii is already a pacific power, barring her eruptive politics; that it is consoling to have both England and America agreeing to the Hawaiian solution of the Pacific question; that the last vestige of the wreck of the Planter will soon be gone; that Mr. F. L. Clarke will bring back a fine collection of living ferns and plants from Kauai; that the suggestion for lowering the Palace wall is a good one; that the free-port question is again being brought to the front, for political purposes; that the water-supply question certainly has two sides to it; that the man who is to take Mr. Peterson's place in the Post-office has already been named; that there is a chance for some cricket games when the British men-of-war arrive in port; that the Madras case suit is likely to be tried before a foreign jury; that Mr. M. Thompson is doing good work on our Hawaiian laws; that one of the foreign jury has good luck this term in not being called on cases; that the people of Honolulu have been indulging in a great deal of idle political speculation during the last few days; that the foreign jury were dismissed yesterday morning in ample time for an extended lunch at the Bethel; that the dust was a feature of Nuuanu street yesterday; that the young folks had lots of fun at the Bethel Church lunch yesterday noon; that the Post-office boys took all day yesterday to find out who their new "boss" was; that the seats for the opera season are going off well; that the street lamp lighting will terminate in a suit at law; that the next cabinet meeting will accomplish something more than the last; and that the political guillotine has been greased up for future use.

L. L. Rice.

He was born in Otsego Co., N. Y., in 1801. As a young man he went to New York City where he learned the printing business early in this century. While living there he was led to take the total abstinence pledge, and enrolled himself upon that platform, and has done much for the cause of temperance during a long life, the most of which found him identified with the newspapers of Ohio. He went to that State before 1830, and for fifty years was one of her leading citizens. About 1830 he began the publication of an anti-Masonic paper. A few years later he removed to Cleveland where for many years he was the editor and publisher of a paper which was the predecessor of the Cleveland Leader and was dedicated to the agitation of anti-slavery principles.

In 1848 he went to Columbus, the capital of the State, and began the publication of a paper in that city.

For more than twenty-five years he was identified with the public life of Columbus, at first as an editor, then as State printer, and in other positions.

He was well-known and greatly beloved. He had for his friends and associates such men as Garrison, Giddings, Jas. G. Birney, Salmon P. Chase, and men of that stamp.

Father Rice, as he was affectionately called during his residence in Columbus, was a man of strong intellectual power, and was thoroughly consecrated to the highest purposes of life. He was permitted to see the triumph of some of the principles he so vigorously and ardently espoused, and to see the banners of other principles rapidly advancing to victory.

In 1875 he removed to Oberlin, where he resided till 1879, when he came to Honolulu, making his home here with his daughter, Mrs. J. M. Whitney. During the summer of 1884 Rev. Wm. H. Rice of New York, his only son, visited him here, making, as each felt at the time, a final visit. Father Rice kept his intellectual vigor up to the very last. His very presence, during the years of his stay here, has been felt to be a benediction. Yesterday morning he rose as usual and was about the house and grounds until a few moments after ten. He then went to his room and lay down on his bed for a little rest, before dressing to go out to the lunch at Bethel Church, as he was planning to do. At this time Dr. Gray dropped in for a friendly call, and sat chatting with him some minutes. The Doctor remarked that Father Rice carried on his conversation with all of his usual animation.

About 10:30 o'clock he observed that he must get ready to go down town, but at the suggestion of the Doctor, that there was an abundance of time, he remained quiet. Suddenly and without warning he fell back upon the pillow, gave a single, slight clutch at the region of his heart, and lay still in death. Not a word or cry of pain; "he was not, for God took him." We shall miss the noble form and the saintly face; but every life that touched his, is the richer and fuller for it.

W. C. MERRITT.

Answers to Correspondents.

INQUIRER.—No. P. O. stands for Post Office and not for Peddler of Oranges. There is no real connection between the two. A man may achieve great distinction peddling oranges and still not possess the requisite qualification for Postmaster.

GROWLER.—We note your complaints about the lighting of the city. We have examined several of the lamp posts by day light and find them to be very substantial. They are well adapted for reclining against. As far as the lamps themselves are concerned, we understand they will soon undergo needed repairs.

HORATIO.—You wish to know the qualifications for holding various offices in this Kingdom. Without answering each special question put by you, we may say, that the only qualification necessary is appointment. You will catch on by the following anecdote: "A man who had been elected Road Supervisor by his District, once approached Judge MacFarland in Iowa. 'What do you want?' said the Judge roughly. 'I wish, your honor, to be qualified as Road Supervisor.' 'Well,' replied the Judge, 'hold up your hand and I'll swear you in, but nothing will ever qualify you for it.'"

Police Court Items.

WEDNESDAY, April 14th.

One drunk, $6.

Ah Chan, remanded from the 13th inst., charged with larceny; remanded until the 16th inst., at request of defendant.

Euaui (w), and Ah Pung, charged with affray; Euaui fined $5 and $1 costs. Ah Pung remanded until to-day.

It is said the "Saddle of his Uncle" was what made Lee Governor of Virginia. If it were not that the remark might stir up an unpleasantness, we'd say that saddle be his administration. —Norristown Herald.

The French association for the propagation of the "volapuk" (the "universal language") is now giving regular and gratuitous courses of instruction in Paris.
